

SPECIAL VENIRE NEEDED TO HEAR ANCIENT MATTER

Scully-Chilton Conspiracy Case Goes to Trial After Wait of Nearly Eighteen Months

The year-and-a-half-old case of John T. Scully and Willmet R. Chilton, indicted by the territorial grand jury on a charge of conspiracy, went on trial in Circuit Judge Ashford's court this morning.

Twelve of the trial jurors were called into the box. Examination by opposing counsel as to their qualifications soon exhausted the panel, leaving 11 men in the box. The court ordered a special venire of six persons, which was returned at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The trial of the case probably will take three days.

The members of the special venire are: P. H. Gerard, C. W. Hustace, Henry H. C. Reinecke, George E. McCord, Thomas T. Miles and Andrew Bright. These members of the original panel who were in the box at 2 o'clock were: George David, H. E. Spicer, E. F. Angier, W. K. Ross, Sam Nuanu, J. A. Noble, W. T. Rayoso, R. E. Turner, W. K. Hutchison, W. M. Buchanan and P. E. Colly.

Scully and Chilton were indicted with J. H. Fischer, assistant to Liquor License Inspector Fennell, the charge being that they conspired to "spirit" a witness from a meeting of the board of liquor license commissioners, which was investigating the application of the erstwhile Waikiki Inn for a second class liquor-selling permit.

At the instance of City Attorney A. M. Brown, the case against Fischer was nolle prossed a few weeks ago. Scully and Chilton entered pleas of not guilty after the court had overruled several motions to quash and demur to the indictment.

PRIVATE FROM SHAFTER DROPS OUT OF SIGHT

Where is Pvt. David L. Skinnell? This is what Field Company E, Signal Corps, Fort Shafter, wants to know.

Skinnell has been missing since last Thursday evening, October 7. He is about 30 years old, with brown eyes, light brown hair, fair complexion, and is about five feet five and a quarter inches tall.

There is a scar on his right wrist and another, about half an inch long, on his right middle finger. There is another scar, about an eighth of an inch long, on his left shoulder.

Nothing can be learned of Pvt. Skinnell's present location. He simply dropped out of sight about the evening of the 7th, and no one has seen him since.

Unconfirmed rumors circulated that night to the effect that a soldier had dropped dead in a local barber shop, but military authorities have been unable to find whether any such death ever took place.

ARMY NOTES

The remains of Sgt. George Riley, 104th Company, C. A. C., of Fort Armstrong, will leave here for San Francisco about November 4, Capt. F. M. Hinkle, post commander of the fort, announced this morning. The soldier's body will go on the next transport to the mainland, and will be buried in the military cemetery at the Presidio, San Francisco.

Before the body leaves here for the mainland, a short military funeral service will be held from the mortuary chapel of H. H. Williams, where the remains are being kept pending the ship's arrival.

CLAIM JAPANESE HAVE QUARRIED AWAY HALF OF SECOND AVENUE

Five residents of Second avenue, Kaimuki, have filed a petition with the city and county clerk which will be taken up tonight at the meeting of the supervisors. The complaint alleges that Japanese workmen have quarried rock from the surveyed line of Second avenue, encroaching upon the line to its middle to a depth of from 10 to 12 feet, and ruined the former foundation of the street. The petitioners also state that drainage from Waialae road runs directly onto Second avenue for a distance of 200 feet, and reaches at times a depth of nearly a foot.

It is asked that the supervisors take some action to bring about a bettering of conditions, the engineer having been approached unofficially on the question and having failed to come to the relief of the Kaimuki people.

RESERVOIR NO. 4 FAST BECOMING DANGER TO CITY

Dr. J.S.B. Pratt Tells Governor, Harry Murray and Loan Fund Men of Health Menace

Unsanitary conditions of Reservoir No. 4 in Nuuanu valley as seen from the standpoint of a guardian of the public health, were vividly portrayed by Dr. J. S. B. Pratt this morning when he stood before the governor, the general manager of Honolulu's water system and the Oahu Loan Fund Commission, recently appointed, and told in a straightforward way his opinion of the water that is being supplied to the citizens of Honolulu from this source.

Dr. Pratt came at the request of the governor to make his statement to the Loan Fund Commission. He stated that he had gained his views from recent visits that he makes each summer to the reservoirs in Nuuanu on his way to and from the other side of the island, where he has a cottage. "Reservoir No. 4 has been the subject of a good deal of worry to the board of health," said Dr. Pratt, "and we have been on the watch constantly with bacteriological and chemical analyses of the water. The last examination that we made showed the presence of bacilli in rather alarming numbers."

"The number of these," continued the doctor, "was not quite up to the standard placed by high authorities as the danger point, but it was very near to it."

Making a brief review of the openness of the place and its ease of approach to animals and men, the doctor stated that only yesterday he had seen a herd of 14 cattle in the vicinity of the headwaters of the reservoir.

Cattle There Week Ago.

"Not only that," said the doctor, "but the same cattle were there a week ago, when I came down. I reported the case to the authorities in the city on that date, and I repeated the warning to the gatekeeper at the reservoir yesterday."

"Every bit of wash from the roads comes down during a heavy rain," continued Dr. Pratt, "and runs directly into the reservoir. People fish along the banks and go in parties through the place. The reserve above No. 4 reservoir is absolutely unprotected and people are not shut out from it."

"In my mind this is a very dangerous practice," the doctor went on. "You get but one typhoid carrier above the reservoir and immediately we are going to have a hard time here in Honolulu. All drainage above the reservoir comes down to empty into it."

In reply to a question which General Manager Murray put to the doctor as to whether or not the use of chlorine, which is practised by the city, did not render the water absolutely harmless, the water manager received a negative answer.

"No, not absolutely," was the reply. "It lessens the danger, to be sure, but it is not absolute. To be so it would require constant and absolute supervision to see that every gallon of water had received the proper mixture."

Charles R. Forbes, superintendent of public works, and chairman of the commission, then made a statement similar to those of Dr. Pratt. "In my opinion," said Mr. Forbes, "the condition is exactly identical with that of the Waialua system on Maui. Perhaps this may be a little less dangerous than Maui's problem."

"During the last session of the legislature," continued Mr. Forbes, "the governor and I paid a visit to No. 4 reservoir on a day when it was raining especially hard. The reservoir was very dirty and full of decayed vegetation."

Forbes stated that he believed a concrete reservoir was the only thing to build in Nuuanu.

Blames Lack of Funds.

"There has been a great deal of criticism of this reservoir," said Chairman Forbes. "Maybe some of it has been unjust, but we have got to get to work just the same. If it is in our jurisdiction to better the condition of things right now is the time. I believe that if anyone has been dilatory in the past it has been because of the lack of funds rather than because of negligence. The desire to act has been present at all times, too."

Harry Murray, general manager of the water system, took the stand that the proposed project of enlarging Nuuanu should be put through on the grounds that it would furnish power for the city's electric plant, even in case it was declared to be unfit for use by the drinking public.

Two motions were made and passed at the close of the meeting—one that the commission visit Nuuanu in a body soon for an investigation, and the other that a second meeting be held tomorrow at 9 o'clock.

EXPECTS BIG CROWD AT PHILHARMONIC MEETING TOMORROW

The second meeting of the Honolulu Philharmonic Society, organized recently under the direction of Prof. Carl Miltner, will be held at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow evening in the Elks' hall third floor, on King street near Fort. Mr. Miltner reports that growing interest is being taken in the formation of a community orchestra, and that there was an attendance of 14 local musicians at the last meeting of the society, held a week ago. A much larger attendance is expected tomorrow night. All local musicians are invited by Professor Miltner to attend the meetings of the society.

COURT MARTIALS DECREASE 300 PER CENT WHEN Y. M. C. A. STARTS

Tichenor Tells Men at Lunch of Work Organization Does for Soldiers and Sailors

J. S. Tichenor, national army and navy secretary of the Y. M. C. A., outlined the policy of the association with reference to army and navy work in a 20-minute talk at the Commercial Club at noon today. L. M. Judd, who presided, introduced the speaker of the day.

Mr. Tichenor began his talk with an explanation of the work that the Y. M. C. A. has been doing in army and navy circles for years, and told of the many experiences that happened when the association first began the work with the soldiers and sailors.

"We do not believe that we know more about the soldiers and sailors than the officers do," said Mr. Tichenor, "but we do know more about how to improve the leisure time of the men in the service, because that is our business. We have studied the situation for years."

"When the Y. M. C. A. first began the work with the men of the service there were many who did not believe that we could do the work. We weren't so sure then as we are now. Ten years ago there was a different atmosphere among the sailors and soldiers. When we started a Y. M. C. A. for the soldier, oftentimes the Y. M. C. A. was the haven of those who were too much under the influence of liquor. They got used to taking the drunken sailors to the Y. M. C. A. instead of the police station. We knew the men would drink, and we tried to find some method that would improve their condition. We used to have fights, and things were very lively for a time."

"We worked with the men and in one year the men began to find themselves and with the assistance of the association, improved conditions. What we were after was accomplished. We wanted the men to find out for themselves that they were improving themselves in the association. We didn't make them do it. We pointed the way."

Mr. Tichenor in his talk stated that the work was not new, but the Y. M. C. A. was finding a better way to handle the leisure time of the soldiers. He spoke of the change in the soldier today and stated that 96 per cent of the soldiers today were Americans through and through.

"There are three points to the campaign we have planned: first, physical, intellectual and religious," he said. "The man who has physical prowess alone becomes a brute. A man who is only intellectual becomes a blight, and a man who studies only the religious side of life becomes a religious fanatic. We are trying to make the men realize that all three are essential, and without this we would never make a success of our work with the men of the service."

"Wherever I have visited I have had this question asked me: What can the Y. M. C. A. do for the man of the service? We have answered that in our 10 years of successful work. Army and navy officials say that if we can make the soldier a better man we can make him a better citizen and a better officer. Where the Y. M. C. A. has taken hold and that courts martial have decreased 300 per cent."

Mr. Tichenor will speak at the University Club tomorrow at lunch time.

Those who were seated at the speaker's table were Mr. Tichenor, Fred A. McCarl, western secretary of the Y. M. C. A., L. M. Judd, who presided; Col. William C. Rafferty, Hon. S. B. Dole, Raymond C. Brown, L. A. Thurston, Rev. Doremus Souder, Governor Lucius Pinkham, Major Arthur S. Conklin and Lieut. Col. Chas. S. Bromwell.

Mr. Tichenor and Mr. McCarl will leave on the next transport for the Philippines where they will look over the situation at Manila. Mr. McCarl has been identified with the work for a number of years, and was instrumental in establishing the Y. M. C. A. in many army and navy stations on the Pacific coast.

McDUFFIE NABS THIRTY-NINE BY ONE BIG SWOOP

No less than five large groups of gamblers have been hauled in by Chief of Detectives Arthur McDuffie in the last two days, and this morning the calendar for the police court showed no fewer than 100 names. Out of this number there were 80 convictions and a hoarse throat for Attorney Chillingworth.

One group of eight was collected in McDuffie's favorite trap, behind Nakamura's billiard parlor, where, in the past, many an Oriental has been taken in the act of playing patkau or 7-11. In this case McDuffie slipped along Keolu street and neatly nabbed the lot. The arrested men were Tom Rice, Joseph Keiwe, M. Lobo, Willie Dan, John Hughes, Tom Parker, Sam Kupa, M. Oliveira. This time a variation of nationalities lent spice to the case, for all the men captured were Hawaiians except Oliveira, a Portuguese. He was let off with a suspension of 13 months, and the others paid fines of $5 and costs of $1.

Ten Filipinos were taken in Waialua playing 7-11. They are F. Maliere, Pedro Cruz, Los Angeles, G. Palo, Lolo Burhe, Petra, Alejandro, Lucio Oreas, Andres Dalmando, Isbel Madison. They received the usual fine of $5 and costs this morning.

Five Hawaiians, Kaino Kamalu, W. Kahu, John Sullivan, Henry Pua and Hakala, together with eight Japanese, Honda No. 1, Yama, Inouya, Moriyama, Yamto, Fugikawa, Wino, Honda No. 2, were also taken before the court this morning on the charge of playing 7-11, and were fined the regular $5 and costs.

But all other features of the morning's rare exhibition were eclipsed by McDuffie's stellar show, "30 at a blow," when he lined up 38 yellow Chinese faces and one Korean on the familiar old charge of gambling.

The group were playing in the Chinese theater alley and in order that they might not slip through his hands for lack of evidence, McDuffie sent one of his men to join the gang. He took with him marked money and when he had bought the chips with which they were betting in the pal-

HOOGS AND WIFE TO ARRIVE HERE EARLY TOMORROW

The arraignment of Frank Hoogs, former teller at the Bank of Hawaii, on a charge of embezzlement, probably will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon before Circuit Judge Ashford. Hoogs, accompanied by his wife, is scheduled to arrive in Honolulu in the steamer Matsonia tomorrow.

Hoogs is charged with having embezzled $1000 of the funds of the Bank of Hawaii. He was indicted by the territorial grand jury at a special meeting held October 4. On October 5 he was arrested by Pinkerton detectives at his home at Napa, California, the detectives acting on cabled instructions from City Attorney A. M. Brown.

On October 6 Hoogs voluntarily boarded the Matsonia for Honolulu. He made no attempt to fight extradition. His bond has been fixed at $5000. On his arrival here tomorrow he will be taken into custody, where he will remain until released on bond.

HAS NO DESIRE TO TRY SUICIDE SECOND TIME

Helen Torres, the Portuguese girl who attempted to drink suicide Saturday morning by drinking part of a bottle of carbon bisulphide, is discharged from Queen's hospital this afternoon, completely cured of any desire to repeat her unsuccessful effort. The poison was not dangerous enough to threaten her life but kept her very sick for several days.

Orders booked by the American Woolen Company for foreign army use are estimated to amount to 20,000,000 yards.

Kan game the detective gave the signal and the lot were grabbed. When asked this morning if he had ever made a larger arrest than this one McDuffie said that 13 years ago he had, with the assistance of only one other detective, taken in 101 gamblers, who had netted the county $1616. In the present case the county gets more than $500 in fines.
